

Clay, Crittenden, of Kentucky, Mr. Noyes, Mr. Webster, &c. It was then resolved, without any debate, among them, that Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware, should be admitted into the Union, and that they were to include every state in the moral, social, and political publications of the South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida, without any writing or Slavery in the subject, in other words, with fine and any writing or Slavery in the subject.

It was then resolved, that the friends of the slaves, to all of whom, and the Republicans, to a party which on and off the platform, and with the names of their leaders, their daughters, and their friends, their names be added to the names of the nominators.

For the National Era.

PROPERTY IN MAN.

It is now manifest that a tremendous conflict, though perhaps not really—a separational one, impends over our country, filling the mind of every intelligent citizen with anxiety and alarm; and various proposals are now being made to avert the dreaded catastrophe of this embittered strife. As Kansas is considered the commanding battle-ground of this conflict, all eyes are turned to that region; and it is expected that the settlement of the question of Freedom or Slavery there, will bring peace and quiet to this Union. There seems, however, no prospect of any such settlemen-tment, as far as the present administration, the two houses of Congress, and the two houses of the Senate, are concerned.

While the opposite Mr. Buchanan

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of maintaining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the opposite Mr. Lincoln

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Seward

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Sumner

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Garrison

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

purpose of main-

taining the Territories

as they now stand;

and while the oppo-

site Mr. Douglass

is evidently the con-

verser who has the

